HAAR RESTAURANT

Haar Restaurant is one of the newest dining concept in St Andrews. Dean Banks (MasterChef: The Professionals, finalist) opened Haar in the Spring of 2019 moving to their new home in November 2021 ‘Relaxed Fine Dining’

The concept simply focuses on letting the food speak for itself. Haar hosts some of the best local produce with little touches and nuances from Europe and further afield. Flavours and cooking styles from all over the world are brought together in true harmony to bring you a dining experience like no other.

The food combined with a re-imagined fine dining experience creates a more relaxed environment. Above all the Haar experience is about having fun and enjoying the moments and memories created whilst dining. Haar puts the environment in the forefront. It focuses on sourcing sustainable products and to be as carbon sensitive as possible is paramount. This ethos can be seen throughout the restaurant, from its interior construction materials, the crockery chosen right through to the food and drink items served. Where possible the ingredients and products used are locally sourced, which includes an exclusively Scottish back bar.

‘Journey to Masterchef The Professionals’

Dean Banks has spent his life being passionate about cooking, starting his career at the young age of 15. This early take to cooking was helped by growing up in a small fishing town called Arbroath, famous for the Arbroath Smokie, this set the scene and started him on his journey.

Deans career has taken him around the world, visiting over 40 countries, working as a private chef. During these travels he has witnessed and absorbed many cultures, their styles, specialist skills, techniques and flavours of cooking.

In 2018 Dean decided to move home to Scotland. This coincided with Dean feeling it to be the right time to enter MasterChef the professional where he wowed judges from the get-go. Using the techniques, creativity and a showcase of the flavours from his travels Dean advanced to the final 3 of the 2018 show.

JANUARY 25th SEES CELEBRATIONS THROUGHOUT SCOTLAND AND IN ST ANDREWS IT'S NO DIFFERENT WITH LOTS OF VENUES CELEBRATING THE BARD

BURNS NIGHT IN ST ANDREWS

TOAST THE HAGGIS WITH A 'WEE DRAM'

"Fair fa' your honest, sonsie face, Great chieftain o' the pudding-race!" The spirited words of Robert Burns' famous 'Address to a Haggis' fill St Andrews as the town gathers to celebrate Scotland's national bard on January 25th. In a night of haggis, whisky, and songs, the Burns Night creates a spirited ode to Scotland's rich cultural heritage and the enduring legacy of Robert Burns.

In 1801, this tradition began in Burns' family home in Alloway with a modest group of Burns' nine closest friends gathering on the fifth anniversary of his death. In subsequent years, informal Burns clubs came together to follow the festivities of the first celebration, although on his birthday instead.

The traditions of that night including the food (except the sheep's head) and the poem readings have held up to this day over 200 years later.

The night begins with the host reciting the 'Selkirk Grace' before the feast: "Some hae meat and canna eat / And some wad eat that want it; / But we hae meat, and we can eat, / Sae let the Lord be thankit." After dining on a starter, Scotland's national dish is brought forth on a decorative platter for everyone to stand and see as a piper announces its entrance. Once set down, a brave soul performs the 'Address to Haggis' with dramatic enthusiasm as a ceremonial knife cuts into the sheep's stomach to reveal the haggis—a pudding including the minced liver, heart, and lungs of a sheep along with beef suet, oatmeal, and seasonings. This main course is served with mashed neeps and tatties (turnips and potatoes) along with the first of many drams.

During the meal, one man will give the 'Toast to the Lassies' which was traditionally used to thank the women for cooking but now has evolved to a humorous speech about women and their influence on men, often catering towards the specific group present. In response, a woman will stand to deliver the 'Reply to the Laddies' and address the previous speech with counterpoints about men. At the end of the first speech all the men collectively toast 'To the Lassies!' and after the second, the women toast 'To the Laddies!'. To conclude the night of laughter and feasting, the host gives the 'Vote of Thanks' and everyone joins together to perform Burns' 'Auld Lang Syne' and express everlasting friendship before drinking into the night.

"SOME HAE MEAT AND CANNA EAT, AND SOME
WAD EAT THAT WANT IT.
BUT WE HAE MEAT, AND WE CAN EAT, SAE LET
THE LORD BE THANKIT."

In St Andrews, anyone can participate in the tradition as restaurants hold special Burns Night events with four-course meals, traditional music, and plenty of whisky. Some places even hold ceilidhs to further celebrate with traditional Scottish dancing. Whether a local or just stopping by Burns Night creates the perfect environment to socialize and celebrate Scottish heritage through the country's national bard.

PALOMPO'S THE ITALIAN ESPRESSO BAR IN ST ANDREWS

One of the newest independent businesses to join the thriving St Andrews food and beverage scene might ring a bell with many of our older residents as the Palompo name once again appears in St Andrews.

Joe's Cafe in the 50's and 60's was the place to be seen and socialise in St Andrews and the first to own a jukebox. It was owned and run by Giuseppe (Joe) Palompo (born in St Andrews in 1915) to Italian migrants from Cassino near Rome. Then run by Archie's grandparents Leonard and Elizabeth Palompo.

Sixty years on his great grandson Archie Renton has opened this superb new Espresso bar next door to his father Dougie's Oriental Rug Shop on South Street.

In addition to the distinctive, quality coffee the shop also serves a great range of Italian sandwiches and cakes including 'Nonna's' home baked Cannoli and Biscotti. In addition Palompo's has a unique retail section.

When the famed weekend arrives, these parents are in charge of organizing the Raisin activities. The name 'Raisin' originates from the practice of children giving their parents a pound of raisins as a thank-you gift for the welcome to the university, but now gifts can involve anything. Supposedly, the tradition originated at the beginning of the

RAISIN

BY BAILEY LANSANG

YOU CAN'T BEAT A WEE FOAM FIGHT FIRST THING IN THE MORNING

On a Monday in mid-October, first-year students at the University of St Andrews gather to face off in a massive shaving foam fight. This annual tradition with obscure origins concludes Raisin Weekend, a time filled with bizarre events intended to initiate the new students.

To join in these festivities, freshers must find an academic family. These families form when third-year students get academically married to their close friends, even including proposals and wedding ceremonies. They then become academic parents and mentor first years by 'adopting' them as their children. Leading up to the big weekend new students go to different family events such as dinners or drinking games at their flats before deciding which one to join. Each family operates differently so students can find the right fit for them whether they want a more relaxed or extravagant experience.

university and organically transferred through generations of students without university involvement. Throughout this time, there were various editions or modifications, but ultimately it's the students' role to continue the legacy.

Activities start early before sunrise on Sunday. Whether parents travel to their children's dorms for a wake-up call or meet them at a specified location, the children are sure to end up on the beaches of West Sands with alcohol in hand. The beach events involve various games where losing merits more drinking so that when the sun rises, the freezing waters don't appear as intimidating. After running into the ocean and warming up by a beach bonfire, the children get a chance to shower and return to their parents' flat for a nice breakfast.

For the main activity of the day, each academic family creates a unique scavenger hunt across town. These vary per family and may include different teams and various challenges. Walking through town that day locals could see anything from extravagant costumes to students racing laps. Once complete, some families allow time to nap and relax. However, it's not long before students meet up with their families in the evenings for pubs and house parties.

Even after a full day, the freshers must wake up the next morning to meet at their parents' flat for the infamous Raisin Monday. Here, the parents provide extravagant costumes and academic fathers traditionally will give their kids a Latin phrase known as a Raisin Receipt. Recently, this could also take the form of foodbank donations that are collected before the freshers enter Lower College Lawn. After trekking through town and drawing lots of attention, the children finally gather on the lawn at 11 with two cans of shaving foam ready. Once they enter, the fight begins till everyone is fully covered and unrecognisable while their parents watch safely on the sidelines. At the end, the students get hosed down and can finally return home for much-needed rest after earning their place at the university.

ST ANDREWS CASTLE & THE CATHEDRAL

These two sites are steeped in history, caught in the Protestant Reformation struggle for hearts and minds.

St Andrews Cathedral, now ruined, is one of Scotland's largest and most magnificent medieval Churches. The ruins tell a story of grand construction at a time of stylistic change, and the dramatic iconoclasm that followed the reformation. The Cathedral site plays host to history from the time of the Picts through to the present day.

St Andrews Castle was a bishop's palace, a fortress and a state prison during its 450-year history. Its size signalled the power and wealth of the important churchmen who resided there in the Middle Ages.

Protestant preacher George Wishart may have been imprisoned in the castle's bottle dungeon. Cardinal Beaton's murdered body was certainly kept in the dank and airless hole. The assassination sparked the brutal siege of 1546–47, when opposing sides dug the remarkable mine and countermine into the rock close to the castle battlements. Visit the exhibition to hear about the darkness of the bottle dungeon and feel the drama of the siege.

St Andrews Castle and Cathedral currently have access restrictions in place due to essential high-level masonry inspections, which are part of Historic Environment Scotland's new approach in response to the effects of climate change on our historic buildings and to ensure public safety at our sites. The visitor centre, exhibition and toilets at the Castle are open. More information on the sites and our essential inspections can be found online.

EAST TO WEST

DISCOVER THE NATURAL BEAUTY OF OUR BEACHES

St Andrews boasts two remarkable beaches that captivate visitors year-round: East Sands and West Sands. Each offers a unique experience, combining natural beauty with cultural and historical significance.

EAST SANDS

Nestled close to the bustling harbour and iconic pier, East Sands is a smaller, more intimate beach. Its golden sands and gentle waves create an inviting atmosphere perfect for families, dog walking and beachcombing. The beach is particularly beloved by the local community and university students, who parade along the pier in their academic gowns each year. This charming custom adds a unique cultural flair, blending academia with the scenic coastal landscape.

East Sands is well-equipped with amenities, including a nearby café and picnic areas, making it an ideal spot for a relaxed day by the sea. The proximity to the harbour means visitors can enjoy watching boats come and go, adding to the tranquil ambience. Additionally, the beach offers stunning views of St Andrews Cathedral and the historic ruins, providing a picturesque backdrop perfect for photography enthusiasts.

WEST SANDS

In stark contrast, West Sands is a vast expanse of sandy beach stretching over two miles along the edge of the Links golf courses. This beach gained international fame as the setting for the iconic opening scene of the 1981 film "Chariots of Fire," where athletes are seen running along the shore.

West Sands is ideal for outdoor activities. Its wide, open space is perfect for windsurfing, kite flying, and even horseback riding. The beach is backed by rolling dunes, which provide a natural habitat for a variety of wildlife, making it a great spot for nature lovers and bird watchers. At low tide, the beach reveals fascinating rock pools teeming with marine life, offering a delightful opportunity for exploration.

Whether drawn to the quaint charm of East Sands or the expansive beauty of West Sands, St Andrews' beaches promise unforgettable experiences. Both beaches are testament to the area's rich heritage and natural allure, making them must-visit destinations for anyone exploring this stunning coastline.

ITALIAN ESPRESSO BAR

72B SOUTH STREET, ST ANDREWS

BY BAILEY LANSANG

THE PATRICK HAMILTON STONE IS BELIEVED TO BE CURSED BECAUSE IT MARKS THE SPOT WHERE THE PROTESTANT MARTYR, WAS BURNED AT THE STAKE IN 1528. LOCAL LEGEND SAYS THAT STEPPING ON THE STONE BRINGS BAD LUCK OR MISFORTUNE.

THE CURSED STONES OF PATRICK HAMILTON

While walking along North Street, it is easy to miss a curious set of stones outside the entrance to St. Salvator's Quadrangle. Yet, the history of this symbol still impacts University of St Andrews students who avoid stepping on the PH or else risk failing their exams.

This haunting tradition and the stones that caused it originate from the death of Patrick Hamilton, the Scottish churchman and Protestant Reformer. In 1523, he moved to St Andrews and worked at the University. However, with inspiration from Martin Luther, Hamilton converted amidst a Roman Catholic Scotland. James Beaton, Archbishop of St Andrews, declared Hamilton's views heretical, forcing him to flee to Germany, but Hamilton returned later that year to preach openly.

Eventually, a council of bishops called Hamilton to trial on account of thirteen charges, all of which Hamilton agreed to believe. After being sentenced to death, Hamilton was burned at the stake—at the PH—where it gruesomely took him six hours to die since the wind kept blowing out the fire.

Now the ground marks Hamilton's legacy. Legend says if you look above the archway of the PH, you can still see Patrick Hamilton (or the devil's face) glaring down at you, hoping to curse any student who missteps. Luckily, the students still have hope to cleanse their academic sins by running into the freezing waters of West Sands on May Dip—while naked, of course.

As one of the most prestigious events in the golfing calendar, this championship carries a rich history that contributes to the esteem of this small town.

From its origin in 1976, the championship grew to become the pinnacle of the women's game, attracting the world's best golfers to compete. In 2024, St Andrews—often referred to as “The Home of Golf”—will serve as the esteemed host for the third time. As players face off on the Old Course, they compete on grounds tracing its history back to the early fifteenth century. By hosting the championship on this famed course, the event will further add to the centuries of history surrounding the beloved sport.

Past champions of the AIG Women's Open include some of the most iconic names in golf. Legends like Annika Sörenstam, Se Ri Pak, and Karrie Webb have all etched their names into the annals of golfing history with victories. More recent champions, such as Inbee Park, Georgia Hall and Lilia Vu continue to uphold the championship's tradition of excellence. The competition also provides an opportunity to discover new talent. Since 1979, the Smyth

GOLF IN ST ANDREWS

FOREWORD FROM SANDY LYLE, PROFESSIONAL GOLFER, OPEN CHAMPION 1985, US MASTER WINNER 1988

St Andrews is widely regarded as the birthplace of golf, with the game first played on the town's links in the 15th century.

Since then, St Andrews has become synonymous with golf, attracting players and enthusiasts from around the world to experience its world-class courses and rich history.

The town itself is home to the iconic Old Course, which has hosted the Open Championship 29 times, making it one of the most famous and revered golf courses in the world. The New Course, Jubilee Course, and Castle Course offer their own unique challenges and stunning views of the Scottish coastline.

Beyond St Andrews, the local area is dotted with equally impressive courses, such as the Kingsbarns Links, which has quickly risen to become one of Scotland's premier golf courses, co-hosting annually, the Alfred Dunhill Links Championship. The new kid on the scene, is the award-winning Dumbarnie

But it's not just the quality of the courses that make St Andrews and its surrounding area so special. The town's rich history and traditions, from the caddies who have guided players around its links for centuries, to the famous Swilcan Bridge on the 18th hole of the Old Course, give the area a unique and enduring appeal.

Whether you're a seasoned pro or a casual player, St Andrews and the local area offer a golfing experience like no other, steeped in history, tradition, and natural beauty. It's no wonder that golfers from around the world make the pilgrimage to this historic Scottish town every year.

THE MAGNIFICENT 7 AT 'THE 'HOME OF GOLF'

St Andrews is known around the world as the Home of Golf, where the game was first played more than 600 years ago and where the game continues to thrive to this day.

St Andrews Links comprises seven courses, each offering a varied and unique golf experience and each one contributing to the illustrious history of the world's most famous golf destination. None more so than the iconic Old Course.

THE OLD COURSE

The Old Course is, quite simply, where it all began. To tread the fairways of the Grand Old Lady is to walk in the footsteps of golf legends from every generation, yet the greatest feature of the Old Course is that despite its grand status, it remains a public golf course. Golf has been played here since the 1400's but was made official in 1552 when Archbishop Hamilton signed a charter to recognise the right of the people of St Andrews to play golf on the links.

To this day, the Old Course remains closed on Sundays instead making way for people to walk the fairways as a public park. In its unrivalled history, the Old Course has played host to the game's greatest events including hosting The Open on 30 separate occasions, creating some of the sport's most iconic moments.

THE CASTLE

The newest addition to St Andrews Links, The Castle Course, was built in 2008, becoming the seventh course at the Home of Golf and part of the largest public golfing complex in Europe. Set on a rugged cliff top with spectacular views over St Andrews, The Castle Course offers a memorable golfing experience.

THE NEW

The oldest 'new' course in the world, the second course at the Home of Golf, was built by the 'Keeper of the Green' Tom Morris, in 1895 and is a classic test of Links golf, offering a first-class experience in its own right.

THE JUBILEE

The third championship course at the Home of Golf, the Jubilee, was built in 1897 and named in honour of Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee. It is considered by many to be the most challenging course on the famous links.

THE EDEN

Only slightly more forgiving than its contemporaries on the seaward side of the Links, the Eden Course was built in 1914 by internationally renowned designer Harry S. Colt, whose use of buried natural boundaries and severe bunkers provides a course full of character.

THE STRATHTYRUM

Designed to complement the tougher championship layouts at the Home of Golf, the Strathtyrum was opened in 1993. Although few in number (15), the bunkers are cunningly placed, and there is a considerable emphasis on iron play accuracy.

THE BALGOVE

The Balgove is the only nine-hole course at the Home of Golf and primarily caters for families, children, and beginners. Featuring bunkers and a double green, the Balgove is the perfect practice-ground for links golf and consolidates St Andrews Links' reputation as a resort that caters for all ages and abilities.

DUMBARNIE GOLF LINKS

The Dumbarnie Links near Upper Largo was one of the most eagerly anticipated new golf courses to be built not only in Scotland but worldwide.

Since it's opening in 2020 the links has quickly established itself as a rare gift of a design that is equally fair, playable and visually stunning. If you didn't know better you would assume it had been there for hundreds of years.

In 2021 it held the prestigious Woman's Scottish Open and was applauded globally as being a great success for the team including the course architect Clive Clark.

If you get the opportunity to play this fabulous links while in the area, take it! You will be delighted by the on course experience as well as the welcoming service from the Dumbarnie team in their well appointed clubhouse.

THE DUKE'S

With a spectacular setting above St Andrews, the championship course at The Duke's is the only Scottish heathland venue in the 'Home of Golf'. First laid out in 1995, the panoramic views over the town of St. Andrews and the Bay beyond are stunning.

The thrill of the tactical design of risk-and-reward golf is subtly threaded through 18 holes to suit every level of player.

Now a part of the prestigious collection of Kohler championship golf courses which includes Whistling Straits. The Duke's, offers world-class service alongside one of the most manicured golf experiences in St Andrews.

Offering a range of facilities to enhance your game, including: driving range, short game area, par-3 loop, fleet of GPS golf buggies, fully stocked pro shop and The Duke's Bar & Restaurant, situated right next to the course and Craigtoun Country Park, this is the perfect spot for a post-round warmer, family lunch with the dog, or hearty set-you-up-for-the-weekend breakfast.
